

National Institute of Fitness & Sport Indianapolis, Indiana

This 120,000 square foot facility is comprised of three major components: 1) a testing/research center, containing technology advanced examination equipment, treadmills, and a biochemical laboratory, 2) a public education area which includes a 120-seat auditorium and a resource library, and 3) an activity center featuring 200-meter indoor running track with hydraulically adjustable curves, aerobic and weight rooms, and locker facilities.

Construction Cost:	$10,600,000
Design:	February 1986 – August 1986
Construction Manager:	Huber Hunt & Nichols, Inc.
Construction Start-up:	June 1986
Construction Completion:	May 1987
FRP Services:	Structural Engineering
Owner:	Indiana University Mr. Ray Casati 700 North Walnut Grove Bloomington, Indiana 47405

